

Dear mine,

I know you more than you think. I knew you even before you were formed in your mother's womb. I am the creator of you. I saw every stage of your life... I know the nights you cried quietly, I know the moments you felt broken inside, I know the times you felt like nobody understood you.

But tell Me... what are you running after in this world? Everything here will one day fade away. I did not create you just to suffer, carry burdens, and die. I created you to live forever with Me in love. That is the true purpose of your life.

But to be with Me in heaven, you must be holy and free from sin. I know humans are weak and cannot become sinless on their own. That is why I am here to help you dear. No matter how many times you fall, if you truly repent, I will forgive you, cleanse you, guide you, and slowly lead you into a sinless life.

And I want you to know this very clearly...

I LOVE YOU SO MUCH, MY CHILD. I WANT TO LIVE WITH YOU FOREVER IN LOVE.

Do not be afraid. I am always with you. Even when everyone leaves you, I will still hold your hand. Leave your past to Me, I can heal every wound and give you a new beginning. And do not fear your future, because I am already there preparing peace, hope, and beautiful things for your life.

Come... walk with Me. Talk with Me, laugh with Me, cry with Me. Tell Me everything. You are never unwanted or unloved. You are precious to Me more than you will ever know.

I want to tell you again that I am God... and I truly in love with you.

I loved you even before this world began. Even if you walk away from Me many times, I will still come looking for you. I will never stop loving you, and I will never leave your hand.

Let Me tell you a story... maybe through this, you'll understand My heart a little more.

There was a man named Jehovah. One day, he fell deeply in love with a girl named Ruhamah. Not because she was perfect... not because she was good... he just loved her unconditionally. But Ruhamah lived a very broken life. She was into an immoral life. Every day she dressed beautifully, wore makeup and jewels, and walked around searching for temporary love and money through different men. Even after knowing everything about her, Jehovah still loved her deeply. One day he went to her and said, "Leave this life and come with me. I'll give you a new life. Will you marry me?" Ruhamah agreed, not because she truly loved him, but because she thought she could get a better life through him. Jehovah knew that too. He knew she might never truly love him back. He knew she might leave him one day. But still... he chose to love her and marry her.

At first, their life was beautiful. They were happy together and even had a baby boy. Jehovah cared for her so much and gave her everything she needed. But slowly, Ruhamah started missing her old lifestyle. Secretly, at night, she went back to her old sinful life again. Later she even had two more children through that life. Jehovah eventually found out everything... and every night his heart broke silently. He would look at her and wonder, 'Why am I not enough for her?' But instead of reacting in anger, he silently carried the pain inside his heart.

One day Ruhamah left him completely. She abandoned Jehovah and the children and returned to the streets, trusting strangers more than the man who truly loved her. At first, life seemed exciting again. She enjoyed money, luxury and the attention other men gave her.

But on the other side... Jehovah's heart was breaking silently. The home felt empty without her, and every corner reminded him of her.

He cried for her. He begged people to help her understand. He even went to the men around her and pleaded with them to leave her because she was his wife. But nothing changed. Still, he never stopped loving her.

Secretly, he kept watching over her from far away and making sure she had food, checking if she was safe, protecting her without her knowledge. As time passed, the same people who once wanted her slowly started using her and throwing her away. She reached a point where she had nobody beside her. No food. No peace.

Jehovah saw all of it. Without her knowing, he kept helping her secretly.

One day he personally went to her again and gently said, 'Come back... I'll still take care of you.' But Ruhamah hurt him badly and pushed him away. Jehovah quietly walked away carrying unbearable pain in his heart. Yet even after being rejected again, he still loved her exactly the same.

Even after realizing that Jehovah was the one secretly helping her all this time, she still returned to him only because her needs were being met... not because she truly loved him. Jehovah knew she might leave again, but he was still happy just because she was near him.

Later, Ruhamah left him once again and went to another town. There she again lived in luxury for some time and proudly believed she no longer needed Jehovah. But slowly, that place destroyed her life. People cheated her without giving money, tortured her, beat her, used her like a slave, denied her food and water, and treated her terribly. Life became so painful that she even thought about ending her own life.

Jehovah saw all this from far away... still waiting for the day she would finally understand his love.

Then one day, the people around Ruhamah decided to give her as a human sacrifice in exchange for money. When Ruhamah heard this, she completely broke down. For the first time, she realized how badly she had sinned and how she had abandoned the one person who truly loved her. Feeling she deserved punishment, she prepared herself to die.

But when Jehovah heard about it, he immediately ran there. He begged them to leave her. He even offered them money. But they refused.

Finally, because his love for her was greater than his own life, Jehovah said, "Take me instead. Let her go. I'll die in her place."

And Jehovah was sacrificed to save Ruhamah.

When Ruhamah came to know what he had done, she completely broke inside. Only then did she finally understand how deeply he loved her and how much pain Jehovah had silently carried all those years. After everything she had done to hurt him... he still gave his own life to save hers.

From that day onward, Ruhamah changed completely. She never went back to her old life again. She carried Jehovah's love in her heart till her last breath.

My child... just like Jehovah loved Ruhamah, that is how exactly I love you too.

Even when you sin... even when you walk away from Me... even when you choose other things over Me... I still love you. And even if you get lost far away from Me, I will still come searching for you again and again until I find you. I'm still waiting for you, My child.

With Love,
God

My dear friends, if you're struggling with sin, addiction, pain or loneliness... just talk to Jesus. He'll help you, heal you, give you peace and freedom. Just like Jehovah gave his life for Ruhamah, Jesus gave His life on the cross for us. He died for our sins because sin leads to hell and separation from God, just like Ruhamah's sins led her toward destruction. But Jesus took our punishment upon himself so we could have eternal life and live eternally in love with Him in heaven. He died, rose again on the third day, and defeated sin and death.

"But God demonstrates his own love for us in this: While we were still sinners, Christ died for us."

-Romans 5:8

"But he was pierced for our transgressions, he was crushed for our iniquities; the punishment that brought us peace was on him, and by his wounds we are healed" -Isaiah 53:5
